PHRA provides monthly education programs focused on Human Resource related topics for HR professionals wishing to maintain their PHR or SPHR certification or just to keep abreast of topics relevant to their profession. In order to enhance the learning experience and interaction among participants, classes are limited to 30 students.

PHRA is an "Approved Provider" through the HRCI credentialing body for the HR profession, which allows our learning and professional development class attendees to receive continuing education credits.

BRAND NEW! PHRA is now offering Networking Brunch/Lunch Learning & Professional Development Programs. Over 80% of the membership survey respondents indicated that they would be interested in this program format in a survey that was completed in November 2007. The highest rated topics will be presented at these programs, and PHRA anticipates large registration numbers for these programs.
